

Title of the Half Day Workshop: Use of Gender Analysis in Psychological Research

Who can Participate: Post graduate and Ph.d Students, Faculty Members, Researchers who are interested in Psychology and Gender and Mental Health and Gender.

Rationale of the Workshop: Very often, teaching and research in Psychology is looking at 'gender' as a demographic variable! There is a need for training in order to understand the complex and rich analytical underpinnings of gender analysis in psychological research.

Overview of the Workshop: It will include the following- Understanding Gender and Intersectionality, Framing Gender and Psychology topics for research, Frameworks for Gender analysis in Psychology and Mental health, hands on exercises, relevance of gender in both teaching and current Psychological Research and much more!

About the Resource Person: Dr Sadhana Natu, Associate Professor and Head, Dept. of Psychology, Modern College Ganeshkhind, Savitribai Phule Pune University. I have 28 years of experience in Action Research, Field Research and Training for Social Science Research. My areas of engagement include youth and mental health, gender, psychology and development, community mental health. I have also taught Psychology and Gender at the Women's Studies Centre, Savitribai Phule Pune University since 1991. I have been an Adviser and Evaluator for several Non- governmental organisations working in the areas of Gender and Health and Gender and Mental Health such as Mahila Sarvangeen Utkarsh Mandal (MASUM) Pune and Bapu Trust for Mind and Discourse, Pune to name a few. My engagement with Psychology and Gender encompasses teaching, research, advocacy and policy research.